"The Cask of Amontillado" is a short story by Edgar Allan Poe, first published in the November 1846 issue of Godey's Lady's Book. The story, set in an unnamed Italian city at carnival time in an unspecified year, is about a man taking fatal revenge on a friend who, he believes, has insulted him. Like several of Poe's stories, and in keeping with the 19th-century fascination with the subject, the narrative revolves around a person being buried alive – in this case, by immurement. As in "The ...

'The Cask of Amontillado' is one of Poe's shorter classic tales. It was first published in 1846 in a women's magazine named Godey's Lady's Book, a hugely popular magazine in the US in the mid-nineteenth century. (The magazine had published one of Poe's earliest stories, 'The Visionary', twelve years earlier.) 'The Cask of Amontillado' is one of Poe's 'revenge stories', and the way he depicts the avenger's psychological state is worthy of closer analysis.
